Re: Carriero vs. Consolidated Edison
D/A: 3/17/97

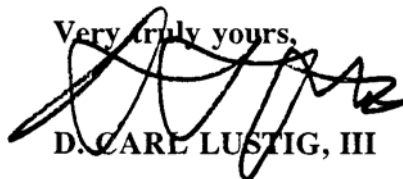

Dear Mr. Provder:

I am writing to advised that on April 26, 2002, the jury in the above-referenced matter returned a verdict in the sum of $4.93 Million. As you are aware, the defendant and thirdparty defendant in this matter made no offer whatsoever against a demand of $2.5 Million.

Significantly, the jury awarded virtually all of the lost earnings projected by our economist whose projections were based entirely on the alternative employment recommended by you based upon your vocational evaluation. In discussions with the jury after the verdict, they were unanimous in their opinion that your testimony provided a more than amply reliable basis for the economic projection and, having credited your testimony in its entirety, rendered their verdict on future lost earnings with complete confidence and, I might add, for the full amount asked for.

I'd like to thank you very much for your kind assistance in the presentation of this case and I look forward to future opportunities to work together again.

Very truly yours,

D. CARL LUSTIG, III
